Weekly Picks From the Band

Read of the Week

The Long Walk is a novel by Stephen King published under the pseudonym Richard Bachman in 1979 as a paperback original. It was collected in 1985 in the hardcover omnibus The Bachman Books, and has seen several reprints since, as both paperback & hardback. Set in a near future, the plot revolves around the contestants of a gruelling walking contest, held annually by a somewhat despotic and totalitarian version of the United States of America. Stephen King has revealed that it is the first novel he ever wrote, begun eight years before Carrie was published in 1974, when he was a freshman at the University of Maine in 1966-67.

Movie of the Week

Labyrinth is a 1986 British/American fantasy film directed by Jim Henson, produced by George Lucas, and designed by Brian Froud. Henson collaborated on the screenwriting with children's author Dennis Lee, Monty Python alumnus Terry Jones, and Elaine May (although only Jones received screen credit). The film stars David Bowie as Jareth the Goblin King and Jennifer Connelly as Sarah Williams. The plot revolves around Sarah's quest to find the way through an enormous otherworldly maze so that she can rescue her little brother, Toby, from Jareth.

Album of the Week

Eyelid Movies is the debut album by the electronic duo Phantogram. The album was generally well-received, retaining a rating of 76 out of 100 on the review aggregating site Metacritic. Absolute Punk gave a favorable review, stating "Phantogram have put forth a collection of heady and stimulating songs primed for in-the-dark listening." BBC Music gave it a 8 out of 10.

Website of the Week

Adrenal cancer is a rare malignancy with only about 500 new cases each year. At diagnosis, most individuals are between 30 and 50 years of age or are younger than 5 years of age. See how you can contribute to adrenal cancer research by visiting spencerbellmemorial.com, an online community created by fans, friends, and family of a young artist who died of the rare cancer in 2006. Direct contributions can also be made in memory of Spencer to the University of Michigan Cancer Research program by clicking HERE.
